

Northern Line Extension

PROGRESS UPDATE

March 2021

Nine Elms Station

Dear Neighbours,

We hope that you and your families are well. We know it's been a difficult start to the year for many, but hopefully with the arrival of spring we can start to feel a sense of optimism about the months ahead. Whilst much of the country has been confined to their homes this winter, our teams have continued their fantastic efforts on site. Over Christmas, we achieved a major milestone, successfully completing the first test-run of a Northern line train along the full length of the route. We remain focussed on an autumn opening date for the new extension.

At Nine Elms Station much of the final finishes including cladding, flooring, glazing and signage are now installed, giving a real sense of how it will look once complete. We've also been completing the lighting, cabling and equipment installation and have begun testing and commissioning some of these systems. We'll continue to do this over the coming months as we prepare for trial operations to commence in the summer. Some quieter elements of work below-ground will be conducted at night.

At surface level we're still working on the new external surfaces and landscaping, and the new pedestrian and cycle access through the railway arch, which will create a link to the Embassy Gardens area.
