

Disruption to tram services between 23 July and 31 August 2009

As part of TfL's programme of investment in Tramlink we are carrying out major work to replace tracks in the East Croydon area.

Phase 1: Thursday 23 – Friday 31 July

- Wimbledon trams will start and finish at East Croydon.
- Trams from New Addington, Elmers End and Beckenham Junction will terminate at Sandilands.
- Elmers End will be closed during evenings and Sunday.
- There will be a replacement shuttle bus service between East Croydon and Sandilands to supplement existing London Buses services during peak hours.

Saturday and Sunday 1-2 August: trams will run normally to serve the Croydon Summer Festival at Lloyd Park.

Phase 2: Monday 3 – Sunday 9 August

- Trams from Wimbledon will start and finish at Reeves Corner.
- Trams from New Addington, Elmers End and Beckenham Junction will terminate at East Croydon.
- George Street, Church Street, Centrale, West Croydon and Wellesley Road tram stops will be closed.
- Elmers End will be closed during evenings and Sunday.
- Replacement bus service will run between East Croydon and Reeves Corner.

Phase 3: Monday 10 – Monday 31 August

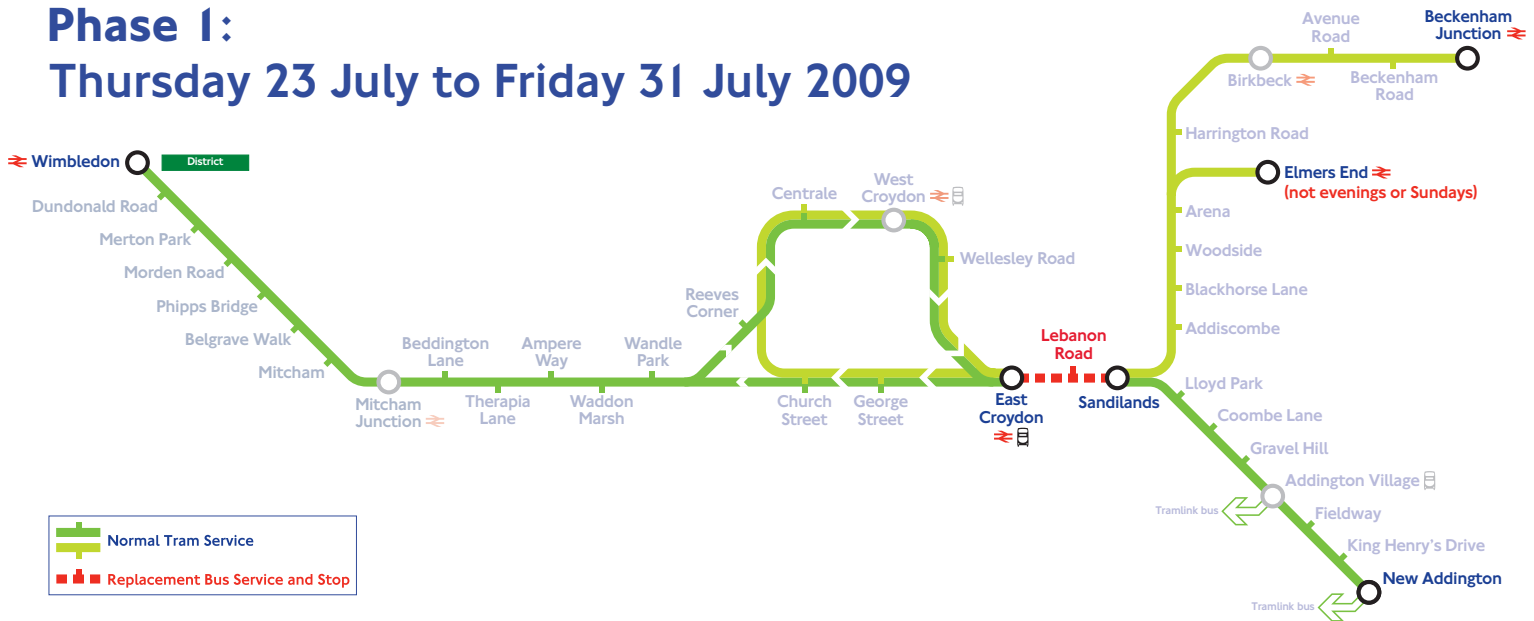

- Trams from Wimbledon will serve all stops on Croydon town centre loop and a temporary stop at Dingwall Road near East Croydon.
- Trams from New Addington, Elmers End and Beckenham Junction will terminate at Sandilands.
- Lebanon Road tram stop will be closed.
- Elmers End will be closed during evenings and Sunday.
- There will be a replacement shuttle bus service between East Croydon and Sandilands to supplement existing services during peak hours.

Valid tram tickets will be accepted on replacement services as well as on London Buses routes that run from other tram stops on the Elmers End and New Addington lines to Croydon.

Please allow extra time to complete your journey. Other than when there is no tram service, trams will generally run at normal first and last times. We apologise for the inconvenience.
